

U. S. BOMBERS CONTINUE BLOWS AT GERMANY

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE EUROPEAN WAR is sweeping across the screen with such speed that there's only a flash of time in which to examine individual operations, but we shouldn't overlook the significance of the Russian capture of Budapest, for its potentialities are tremendous.

The fall of this great city—most important communications center in all southeastern Europe—goes far towards opening the Danubian route into Austria. It means that the Muscovite forces in Hungary have just about smashed the lock on Hitler's back door—a fact which should be considered in connection with the thrust towards Austria via Czechoslovakia by the southern wing of the Red forces assaulting Germany. These two Red operations complement each other.

Now that's a big item. Naturally our attention is centered on the drive for Berlin—on the Russian offensive to take Dresden and cut Germany in two—on yesterday's famous assault of 8,000 Allied warplanes under which Dresden and other key cities shuddered—on the Allied attack against the Rhenish defenses through the terrible floods and mud.

But after Berlin has fallen—after the Reich has been slashed in two and the Hitlerites have been kicked out of the northern half—what then? Well, if the Nazis still are capable of carrying on their fanatical suicide-war, we shall see them making a stand in Bavaria and Austria, providing their present plans materialize. Then they will have the Alps at their backs, and in order to shorten the war it will be vastly important for us to be able to get at them through Austria as well as by attacking from the north.

The fall of Budapest, after one of the most fiercely fought and bloody battles of the entire war, releases two strong Red armies and while there has been no announcement as to their further disposition, observers generally have assumed that Budapest provided a terrible interlude in an offensive against Austria. Marshal Stalin himself, in announcing the capture, referred to the capital as strategically important German defense center "on the road to Vienna." So he apparently has his eye on Austria.

If the Russians choose to continue their offensive to Austria, the next big city to come under fire may be ancient Bratislava, Czechoslovakia's chief Danubian port. This fine old town stands at the junction of the frontiers of Czechoslovakia, Austria and Hungary. It is of great strategic importance for it's situated at the base of a spur of the Carpathians on the bank of the Danube where the river passes through the Theben gorge. If the Red armies choose to essay the Bratislava pass they'll have to knock out this ten century old city where Hungarian kings were crowned.

SUBS HAVE SUNK 1,000 JAP SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—United States submarines have pushed their bag of Japanese ships over the 1,000 mark.

In one of the largest hauls ever announced in a single communique, the Navy reported yesterday that 31 enemy vessels, including three combatant ships, had been sent to the bottom in Far Eastern waters. The announcement boosted the total to 1,020 ships of all types.

TINIAN B-29S BLAST JAPAN

Superforts Are Operating From New Base; Japs Move Factories

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Superfortresses rained fire and explosives anew on Japan's home island today, and War Secretary Stimson said Nippon's "diminishing area of conquest offers no secure haven of safety anywhere."

The War department announced a new group of the giant bombers is operating from Tinian island in the Marianas.

The cabinet member's comment came shortly after the Tokyo radio acknowledged damage to the important industrial city of Nagoya from a fleet of 60 B-29s. The enemy account said the planes loosed their explosive and incendiary bombs also in Mie prefecture across Aotsu bay from Nagoya.

At his news conference Stimson said "the Japanese admit the present damage to their industry and the certainty of much greater damage in the future when they speak of moving airplane factories and other vital plants to Manchuria."

Enemy accounts have confirmed reconnaissance pictures showing the dismantling of the important factories. Tokyo said the plants are being moved to Manchuria.

A week ago Stimson told reporters that although air attacks had been doing damage to the enemy war industry, "Japan's productiveness has not yet been fundamentally weakened."

Today he said damage inflicted on an aircraft factory at Ota last week was "serious."

In announcing the new Tinian base Gen. H. H. Arnold, commander of the 20th Airforce, said it "will increase the scope of bombing operations against Japan."

He added that with headquarters of the 1st command established on Guam and the original bases on Saipan in full operation, "all three major islands of the Marianas group now become an impressive center of B-29 operations in the Pacific."

The planes on Tinian compose a new unit, the 313th wing of the 21st Bomber command. The wing is commanded by Brig. Gen. John H. Davies of Piedmont, Calif.

ASSEMBLY AND DANCE ON SCHOOL CALENDAR

Solom Risk, an Armenian-born American citizen, will speak on "The Americanization of an American" at an assembly in the High school auditorium at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

The program is one of a series of assemblies arranged through the High School association program.

A dance, for all High school students, will be held in the gym tomorrow night following the Salem Strubbers game. It is being sponsored by the Band Mothers club.

The Girls Athletic association will hold a "pot-luck" lunch and initiation in the gym after school tomorrow.

Members of the Hi-Tri held a party in the High school library this afternoon.

CANADIANS IN MOVE TO SKIRT RUHR DISTRICT

Advance Through Flood Waters At North End Of Rhine Valley

(By Associated Press) PARIS, Feb. 15.—Canadians fought through flood waters to the west bank of the Rhine opposite Emmerich today and swung slowly along the northern end of the Rhine valley in a drive behind the Siegfried line threatening to outflank the Ruhr munitions industries.

The 20-mile Kieve front was the only active one in the west. On its south flank, British empire troops crushed a series of violent German counter-attacks and pressed close to the key defense bastions of Goch and Calgar.

More and more Germans were drawn into the semi-aquatic battle which was turning the German flank in the north.

Barrages from hundreds upon hundreds of Field Marshal Montgomery's big guns and huge fleets of Allied planes paralyzed every German attempt to regain ground and exacted terrible casualties. The threat was so real to the Ruhr and Rhineland, the heart of the German war effort, that Field Marshal Walther Von Model mustered every reserve he could scrape for his defending army group.

The Rhine was reached at Huren-deich. The river is normally 3,270 feet wide but breaches in dykes in the lowlands have made the Rhine even more imposing.

At low points north of Kieve and west of Emmerich, the Rhine was as wide as the English channel between Calais and Dover and waters were eight feet deep, leaving only islands of sunken villages. The Canadians used amphibious tanks.

The Canadian First army, already behind the Siegfried line and up to the Rhine, was in a position to push south and confine or kill the enemy on either side of his west hill fortifications.

Three of Gen. Eisenhower's armies to the south watched a gradual recession of floods on the Roer river barring their path to the Cologne plain. Near the center of the Western front, the American Third army made quarter mile advances to within eight of Bittburg, where seven military highways meet.

World Prayer Day Rites Planned In M. E. Church Friday

In observance of a "World Day of Prayer," the Women's Federation of Churches of Salem will hold a special program at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Methodist church.

A theme, prepared by a group of four writers in London, will be used as the central topic for the program, in which representatives of the local churches will take part.

Women of the Nazareth church will discuss the topic "Migrants and Shleppers," and the women of the Zion church will present a paper on "Religious Directors in U. S. Government Indian Schools."

A prepared discussion of "Christian Literature," will be presented by Christian church members and the subject Union Christian Colleges will be discussed by those from the Church of Our Saviour.

A "Call To Prayer" will be the subject of Baptist participation and the Salvation Army women. "Thanksgiving," by the Presbyterian women, "Confession," by the Emmanuel Lutheran Women and "Intercession For the Church" by English Lutherans, are other topics.

The Friends will present "Prayer Topics" and the dedication will be given by the Methodists.

Special guest soloist will be Mrs. Ruth West Spaulding. Mrs. Ruth Berry of the Christian church will be organist.

Guests from Winona and several other surrounding communities are expected to attend. The service is open to the public.

Jap Demolitions, Atrocities Continue In Manila Fight

(By Associated Press)

MANILA, Feb. 15.—Under skies black from new enemy demolition destruction, American troops cautiously tightened a death noose today on Japanese so desperate they cold-bloodedly shot and bayoneted civilians in South Manila.

Yanks of three divisions closed in on the enemy, fighting for each street intersection, amid a flood of front line reports of Japanese atrocities.

The Americans had to move carefully so as not to kill civilians within the Japanese lines. Front line accounts told of the enraged

Army Loses 394,874 Men Since Invasion

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Army ground forces on the Western front lost 394,874 men from D-day last June to Feb. 1.

Secretary of War Stimson said today that 63,410 were killed, 273,997 wounded and 57,467 missing. This report reflected an increase in casualties on the Western front of 61,962 in January, including 8,848 killed, 41,325 wounded and 11,789 missing.

Stimson reported that the Army's casualties in all theaters since the beginning of the war now are 693,342 on the basis of names compiled in Washington through February 7 and reflecting combat action in the early part of January.

Linked with the Navy's latest report of losses of 88,838, this puts total American combat losses at 782,180, an increase of 17,596 since last week's report.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Sale of copper wire to retailers was suspended today by the War Production board.

The agency said the action was prompted by the critical need of the armed forces for field wire.

Officer Tries Suicide After Placing Wife's Body In Hole

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBIA, S. C., Feb. 15.—His throat and wrists swathed in bandages, 29-year-old Lt. S. C. Epes was under guard today in a post hospital after, Sheriff T. Alex Heise said, he admitted burying his young school teacher wife in a foxhole.

Army authorities at nearby Ft. Jackson said the scion of a wealthy Virginia family attempted to kill himself last Monday by slashing himself with a razor blade. The body of Mrs. Mary Lee Epes, 26, was exhumed yesterday.

Heise said she apparently had been drugged, and the state identification bureau announced after an autopsy that a blow on the head was the cause of death.

The pretty, auburn-haired school teacher had left her job in Jacksonville, Fla., during the Christmas holidays and had come here to be with her husband while he awaited transfer overseas.

Admitting he took his wife's body in the trunk of his car to the foxhole, the sheriff said, the lieutenant, whose father is head of the Epes-Fitzgerald Paper company of Richmond, Va., disclaimed any knowledge of how his wife was killed.

Japanese shooting and bayoneting the unarmed civilians.

Explosions and flames swept the old Intramuros, the Ermita and Malate districts along the Manila bay shore south of the Pasig river mouth. The devastation threatened to equal that which ravaged the Escolta business district north of the river.

The doomed Japanese, holed up primarily in the Intramuros, where some walls are 40 feet thick at the base, were weakened but still fighting. Japanese artillery fire fell off markedly after American guns poured a deadly barrage into the sector Tuesday and Wednesday.

Troops of Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beighler's 37th division, bearing the brunt of the house-by-house onslaught, yesterday reached the University of the Philippines campus, a half mile from the high commissioner's residence on the bay front.

The Japanese still held the General hospital nearby, and the American position was untenable.

Associated Press Correspondent Fred Hampson said the enemy was confined to an area about 5,000 yards by 2,000 yards.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in his communique today the 37th infantry, First cavalry and 11th Airborne divisions were "gradually compressing the circle on the trapped enemy garrison."

George Thomas Foster of NBC broadcast that men, women and children had been burned to death in houses fired by the Japanese, and killed if they fled the flames.

He said some civilians had been bayoneted or hacked to death with sabers in "this wanton mass murder."

Across Manila bay on Bataan, 38th division Yanks of Maj. Gen. Henry C. Jones captured Abucay in a drive down the east coast of the bitterly-contested peninsula.

Corregidor fortress, guarding the entrance to Manila bay, took another heavy bombing.

Fighters sweeping the east coast of Bataan sank an additional 24 supply barges.

Epes himself led officers to the grave, one of about 40 army-fashion foxholes, recently dug by troops on maneuver, about 12 miles from here.

Epes was quoted by the sheriff as saying that after burying his wife he returned to the grave and placed a Ft. Jackson sign over it. The sign, reading "latrine closed," was still in place when officers arrived, Heise said.

The sheriff said that later Epes attributed his wife's death to an overdose of sedatives.

Heise said a local girl given him a signed statement, which said: "Mary Lee was ill and upset. She had in her possession sodium secal that had been given her for relief purposes by an army medical officer."

"We came home Saturday night (Jan. 21) at 10:30. We had a couple of drinks, but were not intoxicated. Mary Lee took a couple of capsules and later in the evening she took about 10 more."

"When I found her, her pulse was stopped. I was panic stricken. I took my wife's body about a mile beyond the fort and buried her."

Soviet Forces Gain 17 Miles In South In Drive On Berlin

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—A German military spokesman said today Russian tank and cavalry forces, smashing ahead 17 miles in 24 hours, had crossed the Neisse river in an area only 65 miles from Berlin in the drive on the German capital from the southeast.

Other spearheads, Moscow dispatches said, had raced 22 miles in the offensive west of Breslau and reached Goerlitz on the Neisse only 53 miles east of Dresden and were battling for bridgeheads in southern Germany.

Marshal Ivan Konev's steadily reinforced blows fell with a speed and success which suggested German resistance had been almost paralyzed.

The Berlin military spokesman said Konev's columns had reached the Autobahns, or military highways, both northwest and southwest of Forst, 65 miles from Berlin.

Forst is on the west side of the Neisse 12 miles east of Cottbus and 40 miles north of Goerlitz.

The town is 17 miles west of Sommerfeld, which the Germans said the Russians reached yesterday.

The Germans said Konev in this area had established a "loose connection" with Marshal Gregory Zhukov's forces fighting east of Berlin, where they have established bridgeheads over the Oder south of Fuerstenberg. Fuerstenberg is 27 miles north of Forst.

To the south, Konev apparently had bypassed the important railway junction and stronghold of Koblitz in his jump from Bunzlau to Goerlitz on the Neisse, last natural barrier before Dresden.

Resistance Crumbles

Pravda first announced Konev's thrust to the Neisse, last major water barrier before Dresden. Its correspondent said whole groups of German towns had been captured, by-passed or sealed off in a 22-mile advance.

The speed of the drive indicated Nazi resistance in that sector was crumbling.

The Russians were reported battling for a bridgehead across the Neisse, last major obstacle before Dresden.

Konev's northern wing spreading just below the Oder was coming up through the lake region southeast of Berlin with Storkow as its central objective. Storkow is 15 miles southeast of Berlin.

The German high command said the Russians had reached Gruenberg, 70 miles southeast of Storkow, and other German broadcasts reported the Russians even closer—Sommerfeld, 50 miles southeast of Storkow.

It was recognized that the lake district southeast of Berlin was a natural defense line, but it was probable the Germans would be compelled to shift heavy new forces to meet this thrust.

If they did so they would be in danger of weakening their defenses along the Oder directly east of Berlin where Marshal Zhukov was engaged in large-scale maneuvering behind a smoke screen and a terrific bombardment of the fortresses of Frankfurt and Kuenitz.

By German account, the Russians still had bridgeheads across the Oder in this area.

The Germans were reported badly split up, with many headquarters losing contact with their troops and with the high command, as Konev's tanks and cavalry slipped in behind many large enemy groups.

NEW COLD WAVE TO HIT MIDWEST

(By Associated Press)

Sub-zero temperatures appeared on the weather map today in North Dakota and Maine as a substantial snowfall spread over parts of Minnesota and northern Wisconsin.

Minot, N. D., reported a low of 4 below zero. The cold air entering western Minnesota dropped the mercury to 12 to 15 there, with the prospect of zero to 10 below zero in Minnesota tonight.

Chicago forecasters said the cold weather would cover the entire midwest by Saturday morning, predicting a low of 5 above then for Chicago. They said it was likely to move eastward over the weekend in moderate form.

Six to eight inches of wet snow fell in north central Minnesota today and there was snow, sleet, or rain over the rest of the state. Several inches of snow was deposited in northern Wisconsin, although in southern Wisconsin there was rain.

Dresden Also Attacked In Raids Enemy Says Are Unparalleled

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—American heavy bombers carrying out one of the greatest air offensives of the war, blasted Dresden again today and bombed the clogged railroads of Cottbus, only 12 miles from a sector in which Russian spearheads were reported operating.

Still another force of American heavy bombers again attacked the synthetic oil plant outside Magdeburg, 75 miles southwest of the smoking German capital.

Even while this great armada of more than 1,100 Fortresses and Liberators with 450 fighter escorts was making these attacks, the German radio sounded new alarms. Fresh formations of Allied bombers were reported flying in over Holland and also from the south over Austria.

The attacks brought to about 11,000 the number of planes which have linked the Eastern and Western battlefronts under a blanket of explosives and incendiaries in the last 48 hours.

Field Day For Airmen

Frontline reports said tactical aircraft were having another great field day against Nazi road movements.

Cottbus is a big rail and highway junction squarely in front of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's right flank. It is jammed with Nazi troops and supplies.

Today's powerhouse assaults came after overnight blows by 1,300 RAF planes which struck at the east front rail center of Chemnitz, as well as at other targets. Twenty-two Bomber command aircraft were lost, but some may have landed on the continent. American losses from yesterday's 2,250 plane strike had not been announced because a number of "missing" planes were believed to have landed safely in France, air headquarters said.

Germany was undergoing a scourging such as she never before experienced.

Chemnitz, main target of the RAF assault last night, is situated 35 miles southwest of Dresden and is one of the largest industrial cities of Saxony. It had been hit only a few hours earlier by 450 Flying Fortresses—part of the 1,350 American bombers out over Germany yesterday.

British heavy bombers also attacked a synthetic oil plant at Rotitz, south of Leipzig, last night while Mosquitos hit refugee-packed Berlin.

Gas Truck Blocks Rt. 62 For 8 Hours

Route 62, a mile and a half north of the city limits, was blocked from 3:45 a. m. until noon today when a large tractor, semi-trailer and trailer gasoline truck, jack-knifed across the road, spilling a good portion of its 6,750 gallons of gasoline onto the road after striking an auto and power pole, which was carrying two 4,600-volt electric lines.

State Patrol man L. L. Russell, said the large vehicle and an Ohio Bell Telephone Co. automobile, driven by Lawrence Howard, 38, of Akron, collided in a narrow pass on the road and the truck continued on down the road several hundred feet before it skidded and overturned.

The tractor of the vehicle, which was driven by Edward Royer, 24, of Canton, and went over a slight bank, while the semi-trailer and four wheel trailer criss-crossed on the road. The four-wheel trailer overturned.

Several holes were punctured in the tanker, allowing a large amount of gasoline to escape. Although the power lines were not knocked to the ground, Ohio Edison Co. officials said the poles were moved slightly from their original location and the wires might easily have caused a serious explosion had they reached the ground and the inflammable liquid.

Neither driver was injured.

Two Alliance Area Men Killed In Battle Action

ALLIANCE, Feb. 15.—Two Alliance area men killed in action, one missing and two wounded, are among latest battle casualties.

Confirmation also was made by the War department of the death Nov. 22 in Germany of Staff Sergeant Fred M. Schaefer, husband of Mrs. Donna J. Schaefer.

The dead are Pfc. James M. Miner, of Minerva and Pfc. Ross Himebaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Himebaugh of Hartsville.

PARIS, Feb. 15.—Canadians fought through flood waters to the west bank of the Rhine opposite Emmerich today and swung slowly along the northern end of the Rhine valley in a drive behind the Siegfried line threatening to outflank the Ruhr munitions industries.

The 20-mile Kieve front was the only active one in the west. On its south flank, British empire troops crushed a series of violent German counter-attacks and pressed close to the key defense bastions of Goch and Calgar.

More and more Germans were drawn into the semi-aquatic battle which was turning the German flank in the north.

Barrages from hundreds upon hundreds of Field Marshal Montgomery's big guns and huge fleets of Allied planes paralyzed every German attempt to regain ground and exacted terrible casualties. The threat was so real to the Ruhr and Rhineland, the heart of the German war effort, that Field Marshal Walker Von Model mustered every reserve he could scrape for his defending army group.

The Rhine was reached at Huren-deich. The river is normally 3,270 feet wide but breaches in dykes in the lowlands have made the Rhine even more imposing.

At low points north of Kieve and west of Emmerich, the Rhine was as wide as the English channel between Calais and Dover and waters were eight feet deep, leaving only islands of sunken villages. The Canadians used amphibious tanks.

The Canadian First army, already behind the Siegfried line and up to the Rhine, was in a position to push south and confine or kill the enemy on either side of his west hill fortifications.

Three of Gen. Eisenhower's armies to the south watched a gradual recession of floods on the Roer river barring their path to the Cologne plain. Near the center of the Western front, the American Third army made quarter mile advances to within eight of Bitburg, where seven military highways meet.

World Prayer Day Rites Planned In M. E. Church Friday

In observance of a "World Day of Prayer," the Women's Federation of Churches of Salem will hold a special program at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the Methodist church.

A theme, prepared by a group of four writers in London, will be used as the central topic for the program, in which representatives of the local churches will take part.

Women of the Nazareth church will discuss the topic "Migrants and Sharecroppers," and the women of the Zion church will present a paper on "Religious Directors in U. S. Government Indian Schools."

A prepared discussion of "Christian Literature" will be presented by Christian church members and the subject Union Christian College will be discussed by those from the Church of Our Saviour.

A "Call To Prayer" will be the subject of Baptist participation and the worship will be conducted by the Salvation Army women.

"Thanksgiving" by the Presbyterian women, "Confession" by the Emmanuel Lutheran Women and "Intercession For the Church by English Lutherans, are other topics. The Friends will present "Prayer Topics" and the dedication will be given by the Methodists.

Special guest soloist will be Mrs. Ruth West Spaulding. Mrs. Ruth Berry of the Christian church will be organist.

Guests from Winona and several other surrounding communities are expected to attend. The service is open to the public.

Jap Demolitions, Atrocities Continue In Manila Fight

(By Associated Press)
MANILA, Feb. 15.—Under skies black from new enemy demolition destruction, American troops cautiously tightened a death noose today on Japanese so desperate they cold-bloodedly shot and bayoneted civilians in South Manila.

Yanks of three divisions closed in on the enemy, fighting for each street intersection, amid a flood of front line reports of Japanese atrocities.

The Americans had to move carefully so as not to kill civilians within the Japanese lines. Front line accounts told of the enraged Japanese shooting and bayoneting the unarmed civilians.

Explosions and flames swept the old Intramuros, the Ermita and Malate districts along the Manila bay shore south of the Pasig river mouth. The devastation threatened to equal that which ravaged the Escoto business district north of the river.

The doomed Japanese, holed up primarily in the Intramuros, where some walls are 40 feet thick at the base, were weakened but still fighting. Japanese artillery fire fell off markedly after American guns poured a deadly barrage into the sector Tuesday and Wednesday.

Troops of Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler's 37th division, bearing the brunt of the house-by-house onslaught, yesterday reached the University of the Philippines campus, a half mile from the high commissioner's residence on the bay front.

The Japanese still held the General hospital nearby, and the American position was untenable.

Associated Press Correspondent Fred Hampson said the enemy was confined to an area about 5,900 yards by 2,900 yards.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in his communique today the 37th infantry, First cavalry and 11th Airborne divisions were "gradually compressing the circle on the trapped enemy garrison."

(George Thomas Polster of NBC broadcast that men, women and children had been burned to death in houses fired by the Japanese, and killed if they fled the flames.

He said some civilians had been bayoneted or hacked to death with sabers in "this wanton mass murder."

Across Manila bay on Bataan, 38th division Yanks of Maj. Gen. Henry C. Jones captured Abucay in a drive down the east coast of the bitterly-contested peninsula.

Corregidor fortress, guarding the entrance to Manila bay, took another heavy bombing.

Fighters sweeping the east coast of Bataan sank an additional 24 supply barges.

Soviet Forces Gain 17 Miles In South In Drive On Berlin

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 15.—A German military spokesman said today Russian tank and cavalry forces, smashing ahead 17 miles in 24 hours, had crossed the Neisse river in an area only 65 miles from Berlin in the drive on the German capital from the southeast.

Other spearheads, Moscow dispatches said, had raced 22 miles in the offensive west of Breslau and reached Goerlitz on the Neisse only 53 miles east of Dresden and were battling for bridgeheads in southern Germany.

Marshal Ivan Konev's steadily reinforced blows fell with a speed and success which suggested German resistance had been almost paralyzed.

The Berlin military spokesman said Konev's columns had reached the Autobahns, or military highways, both northwest and southwest of Forst, 65 miles from Berlin.

Forst is on the west side of the Neisse, 12 miles east of Cottbus and 40 miles north of Goerlitz.

The town is 17 miles west of Sommerfeld, which the Germans said the Russians reached yesterday.

The Germans said Konev in this area had established a "loose connection" with Marshal Gregory Zhukov's forces fighting east of Berlin, where they have established bridgeheads over the Oder south of Fuerstenberg. Fuerstenberg is 27 miles north of Forst.

To the south Konev apparently had bypassed the important railway junction and stronghold of Kohlitz in his jump from Bunsdorf to Goerlitz on the Neisse, last natural barrier before Dresden.

Resistance Crumbles
Pravda first announced Konev's thrust to the Neisse, last major water barrier before Dresden. Its correspondent said whole groups of German towns had been captured, by-passed or sealed off in a 22-mile advance.

The speed of the drive indicated Nazi resistance in that sector was crumbling.

The Russians were reported battling for a bridgehead across the Neisse, last major obstacle before Dresden.

Konev's northern wing spreading just below the Oder was coming up through the lake region south-east of Berlin with Storkow as its central objective. Storkow is 15 miles southeast of Berlin.

The German high command said the Russians had reached Gruenberg, 70 miles southeast of Storkow, and other German broadcasts reported the Russians even closer—at Sommerfeld, 50 miles southeast of Storkow.

It was recognized that the lake district south of Berlin was a natural defense line, but it was probable the Germans would be compelled to shift heavy new forces to meet this threat.

If they did so they would be in danger of weakening their defenses along the Oder directly east of Berlin where Marshal Zhukov was engaged in large-scale maneuvering behind a smoke screen and a terrific bombardment of the fortresses of Frankfurt and Kuehnlin.

By German account, the Russians still had bridgeheads across the Oder in this area.

The Germans were reported badly split up, with many headquarters losing contact with their troops and with the high command, as Konev's tanks and cavalry slipped in behind many large enemy groups.

NEW COLD WAVE TO HIT MIDWEST

(By Associated Press)
Sub-zero temperatures appeared on the weather map today in North Dakota and Maine as a substantial snowfall spread over parts of Minnesota and northern Wisconsin.

Minot, N. D., reported a low of 4 below zero. The cold air entering western Minnesota dropped the mercury to 12 to 15 below, with the prospect of zero to 10 below zero in Minnesota tonight.

Chicago forecasters said the cold weather would spread the entire midwest by Saturday morning, predicting a low of 5 above then by Sunday. They said it was likely to move eastward over the weekend in moderated form.

Six to eight inches of wet snow fell in north central Minnesota today and there was snow, sleet or rain over the rest of the state. Several inches of snow was deposited in northern Wisconsin, although in southern Wisconsin there was rain.

Dresden Also Attacked In Raids Enemy Says Are Unparalleled

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 15.—American heavy bombers carrying out one of the greatest air offensives of the war, blasted Dresden again today and bombed the clogged rail yards of Cottbus, only 12 miles from a sector in which Russian spearheads were reported operating.

Still another force of American heavy bombers again attacked the synthetic oil plant outside Magdeburg, 75 miles southwest of the smoking German capital.

Even while this great armada of more than 1,100 Fortresses and Liberators with 450 fighter escorts was making these attacks, the German radio sounded new alarms. Fresh formations of Allied bombers were reported flying in over Austria.

The attacks brought to about 11,000 the number of planes which have linked the Eastern and Western battlefronts under a blanket of explosives and incendiaries in the last 48 hours.

Field Day For Airmen
Frontline reports said tactical aircraft were having another great field day against Nazi road movements.

Cottbus is a big rail and highway junction squarely in front of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's right flank. It is jammed with Nazi troops and supplies.

Today's powerhouse assaults came after overnight blows by 1,300 RAF planes which struck at the east front rail center of Chemnitz, as well as at other targets. Twenty-two Bomber command aircraft were lost, but some may have landed on the continent. American losses from yesterday's 5,500 plane assault had not been announced because a number of "missing" planes were believed to have landed safely in France, air headquarters said.

Germany was undergoing a scouring such as she never before experienced.

Chemnitz, main target of the RAF assault last night, is situated 35 miles southwest of Dresden and is one of the largest industrial cities of Saxony. It had been hit only a few hours earlier by 450 Flying Fortresses—part of the 1,350 American bombers out over Germany yesterday.

British heavy bombers also attacked a synthetic oil plant at Rotz, south of Leipzig, last night while Mosquitoes hit refugee-packed Berlin.

Gas Truck Blocks Rt. 62 For 8 Hours

Route 62, a mile and a half north of the city limits, was blocked from 3:45 a. m. until noon today when a large tractor, semi-trailer and trailer gasoline truck jack-knifed across the road, spilling a good portion of its 6,750 gallons of gasoline onto the power lines striking an auto and power pole, which was carrying two 4,600-volt electric lines.

State Patrol man L. L. Russell, said the large vehicle and an Ohio Bell Telephone Co. automobile, driven by Lawrence Howard, 38, of Akron, collided in a narrow pass on the road and the truck continued on down the road several hundred feet before it skidded and overturned.

The tractor of the vehicle, which was driven by Edward Royer, 24, of Canton, and went over a slight bank, while the semi-trailer and four wheel trailer criss-crossed on the road. The four-wheel trailer overturned.

Several holes were punctured in the tanker, allowing a large amount of gasoline to escape. Although the power lines were not knocked to the ground, Ohio Edison Co. officials said the poles were moved slightly from their original location and the wires might easily have caused a serious explosion had they reached the ground and the inflammable liquid.

Neither driver was injured.

Continuing, Growing Cooperation

The perfectionists now can get ahead with the picking of flaws in the published results of the Crimea conference—and no doubt they will find plenty of openings for their critical proings.

Moreover, in the months ahead, as the customary disparity between good intentions and faulty performance becomes visible, as it must become in such ticklish settlements as those undertaken between irreconcilable elements in Poland and Yugoslavia, the perfectionists will be tempted to deliver harsh judgment on the United States and its allies.

Those who distrust Britain and can find no good in it will be confirmed; they never lack fresh evidence of British perfidy. Those who look upon Russia with deep misgivings of its present practices and ultimate intentions will find in every move of the Soviet regime some new sign of fearful portent. And here at home, many of us will work overtime trying to find in our own government further proof of our misgivings about its ability to represent America properly in a concert of great powers looking toward establishment of cooperative security.

There will be no lack of flaws, we may be sure, and if we can be persuaded to dwell on them to the exclusion of the sound elements expressed and implied in the outline of the new agreements they will appear to be overwhelming. There are two extreme viewpoints it is tempting to take on such a matter—one which sees no good, one which sees no evil. We have gone from the extreme of cynicism about the apparent results of the agreement at Teheran. We were wrong both times.

As in all things, the golden mean—the proper viewpoint—lies between the extremes. The Crimea Charter, if it may be called that, will not be all good nor all bad. But that will not mean it does not represent at this moment a great and momentous attempt to bring about "continuing . . . growing cooperation" among the great powers, and through cooperation, to establish the means of international security. There is a place for skepticism, perhaps even for cynicism in judging such things. But too much skepticism and cynicism, unalloyed with old-fashioned faith in the possibility of a world in which young men will not be sacrificed to the mistakes of their fathers, can betray the finest hope men dare to hold—the hope of peace.

Manpower At the Proper Level

One of the things that make Washington declarations on manpower confusing is centralized authority's inability to present the subject as a local problem, instead of a national policy. Thus, decisions originating in Washington last fall dealing with policy on cutbacks and cancellations—decisions which reflected national policy—precipitated a multitude of local problems in the form of manpower shortages. The problems, in the aggregate, soon found their way back to Washington and, in conjunction with military events, caused some drastic revisions of outlook.

The magazine Steel, commenting on these revisions, has pointed out that industry's problem now is to make the proper adjustment to the probability that reconversion plans must be scrapped until the fall of Japan. The fall of Germany will not be a breaking point in war production. The recent announcement that American armies will have to be re-equipped for the Pacific war means, Steel believes, that cutbacks in the first six months after Germany's defeat will be no more than 13 per cent, instead of the 40 per cent once contemplated.

The local problem in manpower is and always has been to obtain a sufficient amount to do the job at hand. It was solved—and probably as well as it could be solved—by the workings of a free labor market. The present difficulties will be overcome—and probably as well as they can be overcome—by realization that war production is a continuing responsibility of American labor and management and that counting chickens before they are hatched is as bad a mistake in Washington, where policy is formulated, as it is in the hen house.

Twenty-five Years Later

A significant anniversary, in the light of rekindled hopes for effectual peace, is the 25th birthday of the founding of the League of Women Voters on Feb. 14, 1920.

The League's first campaign was in behalf of disarmament. A quarter of a century later its vastly expanded influence and matured organizational judgment have been rallied behind the drive to achieve cooperative world security.

Its fundamental purpose is to improve the quality of government by the more enlightened consent of the governed. Non-partisan in character, it reserves the right to allocate its influence. While some of its measures have been for the particular benefit of women, its program on the whole for the first 25 years has been shaped by objective citizenship.

Carrie Chapman Catt, founder of the organization, commenting on its founding on the occasion of its 10th anniversary, pointed out that her generation of "suffragettes," realizing that old age was catching up, glanced back over their shoulders and saw "an army plodding upward behind them, younger, healthier, stronger, much handsomer and beaming with patriotism. This army picked up the dropped tools and went to work. . . . It was not a hope but a job that brought the League of Women Voters."

For once, congratulations on a ripening old age may be in order without offending conscientious women who have earned the right to be proud of their response to the challenge of better government through an informed public opinion.

Berlin's Last Days?

Some thoughtful dispatches reaching this country the roundabout way through neutral sources are discussing the possibility that Berlin may be going through its last days in history as well as its last days as Germany's capital in World War II.

There are sound reasons behind the speculation. Revised boundaries may rob the city of its geographic justification. Its original importance as the hub of a wheel of canals and, later, as the center of rail communications in northern Germany may disappear in the dawning age of aviation.

Even more likely as a reason for its possible abandonment as a great capital city is the probable decline of Prussian influence in the German area. And most likely of all, of course, is the direct effect of the war on the city's physical existence.

Berlin has been bombed intensively, and there may be worse to come. Many of its finest buildings are ruined. The Germans, with their acute sense of military security sharpened by the experiences of the war, may hesitate to rebuild a capital on a location so clearly demonstrated to be vulnerable when all or part of Poland is under the influence of Russia. It would be grim retribution if London, the capital Germany tried to ruin with air power, survived and the capital of Germany became a ghost city peopled with the wraiths of the Hitlers, Himmlers, Goebbelses and Goerings who destroyed it.

If broken by the Germans, the dams' 160,000 metric tons of water could roar down the valley in an 18-foot tidal wave that would isolate advanced Allied units and trap others behind a huge water barrier. Largest dam is Schwammenauel, a reinforced earth wall 180 feet high, 1080 feet long and 375 feet thick, holding over 100,000,000 tons of water.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Prevention of Coronary Disease

By DR. HERMAN N. BUDESEN

President, Chicago Board of Health

Certain types of people are especially likely to have disease of the coronary arteries, the arteries which supply the heart muscle with blood. These persons must be guarded by their physicians so that everything possible may be done to keep coronary thrombosis—the formation of a blood clot in the coronary artery—from developing.

What types of persons are especially likely to have coronary thrombosis? To begin with, the patients who have already had one attack. The chances of a second attack are considerable in these persons; second, those who have the condition known as angina pectoris, a disorder in which there are severe attacks of pain under the breastbone, due possibly to a spasm of the coronary arteries; third, the middle-aged and elderly people who have definite evidence of heart damage, which is shown by the electrocardiogram, an electrical tracing of the heart beat. Others who may be especially susceptible are those with high blood pressure, diabetes, deficient thyroid secretion and polycythemia or an excessive number of red cells in the blood.

Coronary thrombosis practically never occurs in undamaged arteries. Hence, those patients who have damaged coronary arteries should be discovered, if possible, and every effort made to eliminate excessive strain of any type. According to Doctor Milton Plotz, of Brooklyn, patients who have damaged coronary arteries may have attacks of pain over the heart which may last for varying periods of time.

Rest Is Prescribed

What steps are necessary to protect patients who are especially likely to have coronary disease? First of all, an effort must be made to decrease the work of the heart by rest in bed for a period of one to two weeks or longer, depending upon the response which occurs. A drug known as papaverine may be given by mouth or by injection, to increase the circulation of blood through the coronary arteries. Drugs which lessen the blood pressure should not be used over long periods of time. This includes such drugs as nitroglycerin.

The heart muscle may die—even though blocking of the coronary artery does not occur—because the blood pressure in the coronary arteries may be reduced to the point where not enough blood flows through them to keep the heart muscle alive. It is for this reason that these patients should be protected against any severe operation, the use of anesthetics should be avoided, and any severe hemorrhage should be carefully guarded against. All of these things will cause a drop in the blood pressure and thus may be dangerous.

Disease of the coronary arteries usually can be diagnosed without much difficulty. The electrocardiogram is helpful in making a diagnosis, but does not always show the extent to which the heart has been damaged. In fact, there are occasional instances reported in which patients have died of coronary thrombosis within a day or two after the electrocardiogram has been perfectly normal, but this seldom occurs. When coronary artery disease is suspected, the patient must remain under the care of his physician so that steps can be taken to protect him.

Questions and Answers

Eczema
What can be done for eczema in a baby?—Mrs. F. H. Answer

Eczema often disappears when the baby is a year or 18 months' old. The condition is probably caused by proteins in the food. The most common offenders are cow's milk, wheat and eggs. An excess of fat and sugars is also to be avoided. Other types of milk may be substituted for the cow's milk and foods containing cow's milk may have to be avoided. Evaporated milk is usually well tolerated. Ointments containing crude coal tar or naphthalene are helpful.

Continuing, Growing Cooperation

The perfectionists now can get ahead with the picking of flaws in the published results of the Crimea conference—and no doubt they will find plenty of openings for their critical probings.

Moreover, in the months ahead, as the customary disparity between good intentions and faulty performance becomes visible, as it must become in such ticklish settlements as those undertaken between irreconcilable elements in Poland and Yugoslavia, the perfectionists will be tempted to deliver harsh judgment on the United States and its allies.

Those who distrust Britain and can find no good in it will be confirmed; they never lack fresh evidence of British perfidy. Those who look upon Russia with deep misgivings of its present practices and ultimate intentions will find in every move of the Soviet regime some new sign of fearful portent. And here at home, many of us will work overtime trying to find in our own government further proof of our misgivings about its ability to represent America properly in a concert of great powers looking toward establishment of cooperative security.

There will be no lack of flaws, we may be sure, and if we can be persuaded to dwell on them to the exclusion of the sound elements expressed and implied in the outline of the new agreements they will appear to be overwhelming. There are two extreme viewpoints it is tempting to take on such a matter—one which sees no good, one which sees no evil. We have gone from the extreme of blind faith in the Atlantic Charter to the extreme of cynicism about the apparent results of the agreement at Teheran. We were wrong both times.

As in all things, the golden mean—the proper viewpoint—lies between the extremes. The Crimea Charter, if it may be called that, will not be all good nor all bad. But that will not mean it does not represent at this moment a great and momentous attempt to bring about "continuing . . . growing cooperation" among the great powers, and through cooperation, to establish the means of international security. There is a place for skepticism, perhaps even for cynicism in judging such things. But too much skepticism and cynicism, unalloyed with old-fashioned faith in the possibility of a world in which young men will not be sacrificed to the mistakes of their fathers, can betray the finest hope men dare to hold—the hope of peace.

Manpower At the Proper Level

One of the things that make Washington declarations on manpower confusing is centralized authority's inability to present the subject as a local problem, instead of a national policy. Thus, decisions originating in Washington last fall dealing with policy on cutbacks and cancellations—decisions which reflected national policy—precipitated a multitude of local problems in the form of manpower shortages. The problems, in the aggregate, soon found their way back to Washington and, in conjunction with military events, caused some drastic revisions of outlook.

The magazine Steel, commenting on these revisions, has pointed out that industry's problem now is to make the proper adjustment to the probability that reconversion plans must be scrapped until the fall of Japan. The fall of Germany will not be a breaking point in war production. The recent announcement that American armies will have to be re-equipped for the Pacific war means, Steel believes, that cutbacks in the first six months after Germany's defeat will be no more than 13 per cent, instead of the 40 per cent once contemplated.

The local problem in manpower is and always has been to obtain a sufficient amount to do the job at hand. It was solved—and probably as well as it could be solved—by the workings of a free labor market. The present difficulties will be overcome—and probably as well as they can be overcome—by realization that war production is a continuing responsibility of American labor and management and that counting chickens before they are hatched is as bad a mistake in Washington, where policy is formulated, as it is in the hen house.

Twenty-five Years Later

A significant anniversary, in the light of rekindled hopes for effectual peace, is the 25th birthday of the founding of the League of Women Voters on Feb. 14, 1920.

The League's first campaign was in behalf of disarmament. A quarter of a century later its vastly expanded influence and matured organizational judgment have been rallied behind the drive to achieve cooperative world security.

Its fundamental purpose is to improve the quality of government by the more enlightened consent of the governed. Non-partisan in character, it reserves the right to allocate its influence. While some of its measures have been for the particular benefit of women, its program on the whole for the first 25 years has been shaped by objective citizenship.

Carrie Chapman Catt, founder of the organization, commenting on its founding on the occasion of its 10th anniversary, pointed out that her generation of "suffragettes," realizing that old age was catching up, glanced back over their shoulders and saw "an army plodding upward behind them, younger, healthier, stronger, much handsomer and beaming with patriotism. This army picked up the dropped tools and went to work. . . . It was not a hope but a job that brought the League of Women Voters."

For once, congratulations on a ripening old age may be in order without offending conscientious women who have earned the right to be proud of their response to the challenge of better government through an informed public opinion.

Berlin's Last Days?

Some thoughtful dispatches reaching this country the roundabout way through neutral sources are discussing the possibility that Berlin may be going through its last days in history as well as its last days as Germany's capital in World War II.

There are sound reasons behind the speculation. Revised boundaries may rob the city of its geographic justification. Its original importance as the hub of a wheel of canals and, later, as the center of rail communications in northern Germany may disappear in the dawning age of aviation.

Even more likely as a reason for its possible abandonment as a great capital city is the probable decline of Prussian influence in the German area. And most likely of all, of course, is the direct effect of the war on the city's physical existence.

Berlin has been bombed intensively, and there may be worse to come. Many of its finest buildings are ruined. The Germans, with their acute sense of military security sharpened by the experiences of the war, may hesitate to rebuild a capital on a location so clearly demonstrated to be vulnerable when all or part of Poland is under the influence of Russia. It would be grim retribution if London, the capital Germany tried to ruin with air power, survived and the capital of Germany became a ghost city peopled with the wraiths of the Hitlers, Himmlers, Goebbelses and Goerings who destroyed it.

The Stars Say

For Friday, February 16.

THE AUGURIES for this day are read as most auspicious, promising, unusual and probable gaiety in all affairs and relationships. Change or new friends, associations or affiliations are indicated, with business, as well as home, career and affectionalities under highly stimulating and pleasant auspices. Fresh fields, new contracts and agreements, perhaps accompanied by travel, much correspondence, in fact, all having to do with writings, publication, publicity and promotional enterprises are under excellent prospects.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are assured a pleasant, progressive and prosperous year, with much stirring about, change, new affiliations, friends and perhaps romantic culminations. Travel, agencies, publicity and promotion are indicated, with financial expansion, career advancement and new association in business as well as in friendship or affectional contacts, in which charm and personality are influential. Possible engagements, marriages, christenings are among the enjoyable possibilities presaged.

Roer Dams in Allied Path

Map above shows the location of the five principal dams that control the water level of the Roer River and thus guard the Cologne plain, toward which the U. S. 1st and 9th Armies are driving. If broken by the Germans, the dams' 160,000,000 metric tons of water could roar down the valley in an 18-foot tidal wave that would isolate advanced Allied units and trap others behind a huge water barrier. Largest dam is Schwammenauel, a reinforced earth wall 180 feet high, 1080 feet long and 375 feet thick, holding over 100,000,000 tons of water.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Prevention of Coronary Disease

By DR. HERMAN N. BUDSEN, President, Chicago Board of Health

Certain types of people are especially likely to have disease of the coronary arteries, the arteries which supply the heart muscle with blood. These persons must be guarded by their physicians so that everything possible may be done to keep coronary thrombosis—the formation of a blood clot in the coronary artery—from developing.

What types of persons are especially likely to have coronary thrombosis? To begin with, the patients who have already had one attack. The chances of a second attack are considerable in these persons; second, those who have the condition known as angina pectoris, a disorder in which there are severe attacks of pain under the breastbone, due possibly to a spasm of the coronary arteries; third, the middle-aged and elderly people who have definite evidence of heart damage, which is shown by the electrocardiogram, an electrical tracing of the heart beat. Others who may be especially susceptible are those with high blood pressure, diabetes, deficient thyroid secretion and polycythemia or an excessive number of red cells in the blood.

Coronary thrombosis practically never occurs in undamaged arteries. Hence, those patients who have damaged coronary arteries should be discovered, if possible, and every effort made to eliminate excessive strain of any type. According to Doctor Milton Plotz, of Brooklyn, patients who have damaged coronary arteries may have attacks of pain over the heart which may last for varying periods of time.

Rest Is Prescribed

What steps are necessary to protect patients who are especially likely to have coronary disease? First of all, an effort must be made to decrease the work of the heart by rest in bed for a period of one to two weeks or longer, depending upon the response which occurs. A drug known as papaverine may be given by mouth or by injection, to increase the circulation of blood through the coronary arteries. Drugs which lessen the blood pressure should not be used over long periods of time. This includes such drugs as nitroglycerin.

The heart muscle may die—even though blocking of the coronary artery does not occur—because the blood pressure in the coronary arteries may be reduced to the point where not enough blood flows through them to keep the heart muscle alive. It is for this reason that these patients should be protected against any severe operation the use of anesthetics should be avoided, and any severe hemorrhage should be carefully guarded against. All of these things will cause a drop in the blood pressure and thus may be dangerous.

Disease of the coronary arteries usually can be diagnosed without much difficulty. The electrocardiogram is helpful in making a diagnosis, but does not always show the extent to which the heart has been damaged. In fact, there are occasional instances reported in which patients have died of coronary thrombosis within a day or two after the electrocardiogram has been perfectly normal, but this seldom occurs. When coronary artery disease is suspected, the patient must remain under the care of his physician so that steps can be taken to protect him.

Questions and Answers

Eczema
What can be done for eczema in a baby?—Mrs. F. H.

Answer
Eczema often disappears when the baby is a year or 18 months old. The condition is probably caused by proteins in the food. The most common offenders are cow's milk, wheat and eggs. An excess of fat and sugars is also to be avoided. Other types of milk may be substituted for the cow's milk and foods containing cow's milk may have to be avoided. Evaporated milk is usually well tolerated. Ointments containing crude coal tar or naphthalene are helpful.

SO THEY SAY

The present military plans foreshadow the possibility that the reconversion "go ahead" will not come immediately after V-E Day. —George Romney, director Automotive Council for War Production.

There is something peculiarly incompatible between government and humanitarian activities. Government always seems to make a mess of them, with very few exceptions. The basic reason is that government is not really interested. —James G. McDonald, chairman President's Advisory Committee on Political Refugees.

We of the many home fronts, together with our fighting youth, must create a world of the young, by the young, and for the young.

We teach our pupils the value of personal hygiene, yet we provide no soap and towels in the school washrooms. —Dr. Gabriel R. Mason, New York high school principal.

Report Method of Making Butter Without Churning

CALGARY, Alta., Feb. 15.—A revolutionary way of making butter without churning probably will gain wide use after the war, Dr. E. G. Hood, dairy research chief of the Canadian department of agriculture, said last night.

Addressing the manufacturers' section of the Alberta Dairy association, he quoted a statement from O.K. Burrows, public relations director of a large scale dairy equipment manufacturer, which said a process had been developed for the continuous manufacture of creamy butter without the use of a churn. Butter manufactured by this process was reported to have "perfect body and texture, normal color, and desired spreadability."

Another dairy expert said the method is an application of the centrifugal principle, the same as used in a cream separator.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

Danielle led the way around the garage. The window from which the light streamed was small and high—higher than Aggie could reach. Its panes were set in a hinged frame that was open so that light fell into the room from a big maple which grew near the barn, at a slight angle from the window. He could see the black paint on the panes to make the room totally dark for daylight photographic development. He looked for a box, a wheelbarrow, a barrel—to stand on.

"Boost me," Danielle said.

He wrapped his arms around her knees and lifted. Her palms ran up the wall, like little slapping feet. She caught the sill and pulled her weight higher. He pushed on the bottoms of her feet. She looked in, then. And the sounds of night, the whispering of leaves and the trilling of insects, were obliterated by her scream.

Danielle's scream did not last long—although it was the sort that begins hysterics. Aggie could not be sure whether it was real, or a deliberate achievement. But he did not want the neighborhood roused. He could feel the girl wobbling above him, and he dropped her, catching her roughly by the waist.

That arrested the scream—left it hanging in the night—shrill, eerie, truncated. She opened her mouth to scream again. Aggie put his hand over it. She commenced kicking and biting, but she didn't make any more noise. He saw to that: he held her there, locked, gagging, waiting to see if a light would go on in one of the servants' rooms or one of the houses in the surrounding woods. There was no light; the girl was beginning to relax.

"Listen!" he said in a whisper. "If you yell, you'll wake up the neighborhood! If there's anything we can do about things—this is our chance. What did you see? Will you answer without making an uproar?"

She tried to kick him again. Then she nodded, because his reaction had been to hold her more firmly. He took away his hand. She spoke in a shuddering monotone. "It's Dad! He's lying there—with a knife sticking out of him and blood all over the floor!"

"Yes?" He was commanding her to go on.

"We've got to do something—get the police!"

Aggie shook his head. "Not yet. Whoever killed him—doesn't know he's been found and may be relying on that."

Her answer was violent—although whispered. "Nobody killed him. He killed himself! You fool! The door is locked—a child couldn't crawl through the window—and it's the only one!"

Aggie's eyes were accustomed to the penumbral glow of the little window. He saw her well—tossing back her hair, shaking. He was still waiting for lights, but none came. One scream—heard for a moment and at a distance—will pass as the sound of a door, of a tree, or of a rabbit caught by a night hawk. It is the second and the third and the fourth screams that rouse all humanity. He thought of that. He thought, also, about the window and the door. It gave him a sense of frustration.

"I'll look," he began searching for something to stand on.

"There's a ladder inside the garage. To the left," she said.

He lit matches until he found it. A stepladder, but a long one. He carried it back. It reached to the window. He leaned it against the wall. Danielle stood by in silence and Aggie climbed swiftly.

Dr. Davis was lying on his back on the floor. His right hand was clenched around the hilt of what was, presumably, a knife; there was a blot of blood under it and around him. No telltale expression marked his ashen face; it was like most faces in death; flaccid, meaningless. The knife had been plunged into his heart. He had undoubtedly died in a second. Two lights burned in the room—a red one on a stand on the drainboard of a sink and a bluish, "sunlight" bulb in the high ceiling overhead. There was a ventilator fan in the room, and it was humming. Water was running from a rubber hose in a tub, several photographic enlargements eddied in the current. Ranged about, on two deal tables, were porcelain pans and brown glass bottles—the accoutrements of an ordinary darkroom. The place smelled of chemicals.

Aggie came down the ladder. Danielle snatched his arm—starting him. "I just thought! Is he dead? Surely dead?"

"Yes. He is."

"He killed himself," she whispered. "Killed himself! It isn't the thing I'd—! And yet—he was so frightfully upset—!"

"He killed himself," Aggie repeated. As he said it he wondered if Dr. Davis had killed himself. Any other idea seemed outrageous. There was the dead man in the small room, with the tiny window and the heavy door. Key inside: Aggie had seen it from the high angle at which he had stood. And a small, ordinary bolt shot. Besides. There was the knife in his heart—and his right hand still closed upon it. Suicide. To think otherwise was preposterous.

Jim Calder had stumbled into a deadfall. George Davis had stabbed himself. Hank Bogarty had skidded into a lake. There was no black fox.

"A surgeon," he muttered, standing uncertainly beside the girl, "would hardly use a knife—that way—would he?"

"He'd know how," Danielle answered. "And he either would—or he wouldn't. If Dad had decided—he'd do it any way that was convenient. Convenient—and effective."

"We ought to get that door open," he said.

"Have you a cigarette?"

"No."

"I'm going to the house to get one. And to have the jitters."

He shook his head. "You're not going to have the jitters."

"Yes. I am. I'm shaky inside, and sweating like an icebox. I'm going to lock myself in my room, and yell."

"No." He said it absently, but with such force that it was extremely compelling. "You are going to get a cigarette, if you want. Then you're coming back. We'll go in there."

"How?"

"Do the servants sleep in the garage?"

"No. The top was an old haymow. The darkness is where the chute used to be—that's why it's so high."

"Oke. I'll shut the garage doors—and use an automobile jack."

She came back about ten minutes later. Around her, the woods and the dark houses were thick with sleep. She had changed into a dress and she was carrying cigarettes in her hands. On her feet were wedgies and her legs were bare. She was as pale as paper. Aggie glanced at her. He had turned on the lights of one of the cars to furnish a reflected radiance for his work. He had jammed a jack against the dark-room door and he was turning its crank.

"I stuffed a robe from the limousine in the little window," he said. "This is going to make a terrific racket."

It did. The metal lock ticked under the strain, as if it were getting hot. The wood in the door frame began to crack and splinter. Aggie kept turning. Then there was a sharp, explosive sound as the lock itself bit through its iron socket and the door burst open, swung clear around, hit the wall, and rebounded almost shut again. The jack blocked it.

Aggie went into the room. He yanked the car robe from the window by jumping for it. He unfolded it, and, after a long look at the body, he spread the plaid wool cover over it. Then Danielle came in—still holding the cigarettes in both hands.

"Smoke one," he said. "Here. Give me one, too." He said that because of the glassy expression in her eyes. He took two cigarettes from the package, poked one between her lips, and struck a match. She began to smoke automatically. He puffed on his as if it were a pipe. "It's a knife," he said. "Hunting knife. Heavy. The kind you wear in a sheath, around your belt. Did he have one?"

She did not answer.

PRESBYTERY CLERK NAMED AT MEETING

Rev. Stebbins Succeeds Rev. Case; Join National Fund Drive

Election of a new state clerk of the Mahoning Presbytery marked a meeting at the Presbyterian church here Tuesday afternoon, when church donation assignments were issued to the various district churches.

Rev. L. H. Stebbins, pastor of the Warren Presbyterian church was named clerk, succeeding Rev. Chauncey Case of Alliance, who has held the position for the past ten years. He resigned because of ill health.

The Presbytery completed plans for raising $46,000 as its share of the $20,000,000 national Presbyterian benevolence fund. In 1944 the Presbytery raised $55,796 against a quota of $38,240.

The Salem church has been asked to raise $5,782.

Quotas of other churches in the Presbytery include: Columbiana, $905; East Palestine $797; Ellsworth, $305; Hanoverton, $253; Homeworth, $440; Leetonia $274; Lisbon, $1,398; New Waterford $398 and North Benton, $439.

All quotas were raised 20 per cent over the 1944 goals. The increase will be used for postwar construction.

Rev. Jarvis Cotton of the Western Theological seminary of Pittsburgh, addressed the pastors and delegates during the evening session.

Rev. Cotton, former pastor of the Lisbon Presbyterian church, explained the need for young men to enter the ministry. "There are only 6,000 ministers for the 10,000 Presbyterian churches in the United States," he explained.

A moderator and delegates to the state and national conferences will be elected at a meeting of the Presbytery Tuesday, April 10, at the First Presbyterian church in Warren. Rev. Francis Nagy, pastor of the Canton Magyar Hungarian church, is the retiring moderator.

Gen. Marshall Pays Visit To Yanks of Fifth Army

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, Feb. 15.—Gen. George C. Marshall, making a surprise tour of the Italian front, told Fifth army soldiers yesterday that they have immobilized large German forces in Italy, preventing the Nazis troops from bolstering sagging lines on the Eastern and Western fronts.

It is estimated the Nazis have 27 divisions in Italy. Marshall's statement was an obvious tonic to the Fifth army troops, many of whom have been overseas battling the Axis more than three years.

The United States army chief of staff made an unexpected, three-day tour of the Fifth's sector on his way home from the Crimean conference. He wore overseas for the first time his new five-star insignia as a general of the army.

Gen. Marshall Pays Visit To Yanks of Fifth Army

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY IN ITALY, Feb. 15.—Gen. George C. Marshall, making a surprise tour of the Italian front, told Fifth army soldiers yesterday that they have immobilized large German forces in Italy, preventing these Nazi troops from bolstering sagging lines on the Eastern and Western fronts.

It is estimated the Nazis have 27 divisions in Italy.

Marshall's statement was an obvious tonic to the Fifth army troops, many of whom have been overseas battling the Axis more than three years.

The United States army chief of staff made an unexpected, three-day tour of the Fifth's sector on his way home from the Crimean conference. He wore overseas for the first time his new five-star insignia as a general of the army.

ONLY PHOTOGRAPHER AHEAD OF INFANTRY

WITH THE COAST GUARD ON LUZON — John Padula, a Coast Guard photographer from Staten Island, went ashore from Luzon after a half-raising ride through heavy Jap fire.

Padula recalled "I just took off, straight ahead. Then a shell snapped the trunk of a tree ahead of me and I hit the dirt."

Soon he realized that he was out in front alone, except for the amphibious tanks which led the attack at the beachhead.

"It turned out swell," Padula smiled, "some of the best pictures I got were of the advancing infantry—the way it looks to the Japs."

KEEP IT CLEAN, BOYS, EVEN IN BATTLE

WITH THE COAST GUARD AT LUZON—Tense troops in a Coast Guard attack boat approaching Luzon were lighting one cigarette after another as they watched water-spouts thrown up by Jap shells. "Hey, you guys," yelled a seaman at the stern, "watch where you're putting those butts! Toss 'em over the side." "Take it easy, sailor," barked a bearded GI with a Tommy gun. "You worried about a little thing like that?" "Who do you think will have to clean this boat after we get out of here?" the coast guardsman snapped.

GIGGLEPROOF WOOL

LONDON—Plans are being made by the wool industry to further perfect processes to "take the tickle out of wool" and make woolen textiles upholstery, clothes and carpets moth-proof and non-shrinkable.

SHARP-EYED JUSTICE

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia. — Judge John P. Tinley, 74, who has chewed tobacco since he was 12 years old, is proud of his aim, and when he missed during a recent trial he said he felt like throwing the case out of court.

"Words flow out when they are well greased by a good bite of tobacco," he continued.

STEAL NERVE NEEDED FOR THIS EXPLANATION

TAMPA, Fla. — A prisoner accused of theft told a peace justice here that he took articles from the room of an acquaintance "because I didn't want anyone else to take them and accuse me of doing it."

BIRTHDAY IS BIRD DAY

YAKIMA, Wash. — L. W. Dick, who often had said he thought some day he'd "like to raise a few chickens," went into the poultry business sooner than he had anticipated when 12 birthday party guests, bearing live chickens as gifts, turned them loose in the front room as Dick prepared to cut his birthday cake.

WLB Defiers Can Be Put Out of Business By Government Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. — The government brought out today a new, drastic weapon for use against defiers of war labor board orders. Its first use cancelled the war contracts of, and denied priority assistance to, E. A. Laboratories, Inc., Brooklyn, N. Y., manufacturers of ship landing lights and other electrical equipment.

Denial of priority assistance in these days of scarce materials is a penalty of extreme seriousness. Conceivably it could put a manufacturer out of business.

On the ground the company had "persistently refused" to comply with WLB orders, Fred M. Vinson, director of economic stabilization, last night directed the Army and Navy to cancel "all contracts with this employer as rapidly as possible."

He also directed the War Production board to deny all applications of the firm for priority assistance or for the allocation of materials, and to cancel outstanding priorities and allocations.

Vinson acted under executive order No. 9370 which empowers him to issue "such directives as he may deem necessary" in connection with the enforcement of WLB orders.

This he described as the "other weapon in our arsenal," the other being government seizure.

Before he acted, Vinson said, he consulted the Army and Navy. The Army replied that the firm's production could be absorbed by other manufacturers; the Navy said "cancellation of the company's contracts would not appear to interfere unduly with the war effort."

Why to Moscow?

THERE'S widespread speculation in Washington about the visit of Edward J. Flynn, former Democratic national committee chairman, to Moscow, and whether it has any connection with the reported Russian request for 10 billion dollars post-war rehabilitation loan from the U. S. Flynn accompanied FDR to Yalta, Russia, for the "Big Three" meet "as an old friend," explained the White House. Flynn went on to Moscow with U. S. Ambassador W. Averill Harriman and his party. 20 MINE SWEEPERS FORCE ENTRANCE INTO MANILA BAY

(By Associated Press) More than 20 American mine sweepers swept an entrance to Manila bay Tuesday under cover of a naval and air bombardment, the Japanese Domei news agency reported today in an unconfirmed dispatch saying "some ten enemy transports" were believed to be following for a sea-borne thrust at Manila.

The Domei dispatch, recorded by the Federal Communications commission, said 11 U. S. warships engaged in an artillery duel with Corregidor's remaining big guns while the minesweepers went to work on the channel between the rock-like fortress and Bataan.

"About 9:30 Tuesday morning an enemy fleet, comprised of two battleships, four cruisers and five destroyers, opened up a barrage of fire against Corregidor, coupled with heavy attacks from enemy aircraft," Domei said. "Our shore batteries on Corregidor promptly returned the fire with a furious gun duel ensuing between our fortresses and the invading surface craft."

"Toward evening the same day, 20 enemy minesweepers invaded the narrow strip of water north of Corregidor. One of these enemy vessels was immediately sunk by fire from shore batteries, while the rest of the enemy craft were effectively checked in their attempt to make a way through the channel."

"There are indications that these enemy minesweepers are being followed by some ten enemy transports, apparently carrying invasion forces," Maj. Gen. MacArthur, one of the Japanese military commentators, discounted the worth of Manila. Domei quoted him as saying it should not be "defended to the last man."

SPIES CONVICTED, FACING GALLOWS

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—A review of the death sentence imposed on William Curtis Colepaugh and Erich Gimpel will follow as part of established procedure the spy trial just concluded by a seven-man military commission.

The commission found the two men guilty yesterday and sentenced them to death by hanging.

Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Terry, commanding general of the Second Service command, will review the findings and send them to Washington for inspection by a board of review. The commission's decision will go to President Roosevelt since Feb. 6, on historic Governors island, deliberated less than three hours.

The men were adjudged guilty on all three counts: They violated the law of war by secretly landing behind our defense lines from a submarine; they acted as spies and they conspired to commit espionage and sabotage.

Taciturn, German-born Gimpel, 35, heard the verdict without any outward emotion and later told the commission through his counsel he thought he had received "a most fair and impartial trial."

Colepaugh, Connecticut-born and 26-years-old, also showed no emotion.

OHIOAN BRAVED NAZI FIRE TO VISIT DAM

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—An Ohioan was one of five U. S. army engineers who visited the Schwammenauel dam in Germany before it was captured to find out if the Nazis had prepared it for demolition to send a torrent of water down the Roer valley.

A BBC correspondent told how Pfc. Harold B. Albo of Amsterdam in Jefferson county and four others crawled through German rifle fire toward the giant dam causeway.

The broadcast said: "After a defense point had been wiped out by sharpshooting Yanks, they crossed a 1,000 foot causeway in three minutes flat, knowing an 88mm. gun was set up on the other side."

"They slid down 40 feet to the steel opening of the spillway and forced their way in, only to find six fearful Germans."

"A quick 30-minute inspection of the tunnel showed it clear of TNT and wiring and, with the six prisoners, they scaled the 40 feet and returned with vital information."

FOUR FARM BUREAU OFFICIALS RESIGN

Differ On Farmer, Organized Labor Opinions; Dispute Cooperatives

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Feb. 15. — Differing opinions whether the farmer's interests are similar to those of organized labor, plus a dispute over consumer cooperatives, left the Ohio Farm Bureau without the services of four 20-year veteran executives today.

The quartet, who resigned, are L. A. Taylor, assistant general manager and secretary of the bureau's insurance companies; L. J. Bennett, assistant secretary of the insurance companies and head of the sales department; R. W. Richert, superintendent of insurance agents, and Eugene L. Hensel, special counsel and supervisor of the legal department.

Hensel said he could not conscientiously serve the farm clients while feeling the organization was working against their best interests. He added:

"The farmers' objectives are the antithesis of unions and consumer cooperatives. The farmer eventually would be faced with disadvantages."

Murray D. Lincoln, the bureau's general manager acknowledged the resignations, but contended the interests of the farmers and organized labor were the same.

Supported by the bureau's 26 directors, Lincoln said, "the farmer must work with all economic groups to solve the serious marketing problem."

"Eric Johnson (president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce) and others have been stressing the need of working together to avert a postwar depression."

Hensel said he had nothing against unions or consumer cooperatives.

"The cooperatives want low prices and the best possible goods," he said. "The farm cooperatives, working without subsidies from the government, are purchasing at market prices and selling at the highest possible price. There is bound to be friction."

Lincoln, describing the postwar bureau plans as still in the "discussion" stage, said an investigation was underway to ready a concrete program for the farmers at the war's end.

Lincoln announced the committee consisted of Robert Peelle of Clinton county, B. S. Van Gorden of Hamilton, James Tootle of Chillicothe, Everett Rittenour of Pike county and John Hodson of Williams county, state director of agriculture.

J. S. Keltner of Columbus, treasurer, has been named acting assistant general manager, Bowman Doss of Columbus has replaced Bennett and George Hough of Westerville will succeed Richert. Hensel's post has not been filled.

THE HAPPIEST DAY OF HIS LIFE

IN THE RHODES GENERAL HOSPITAL at Utica, N. Y., Pvt. George Lott, 22, whose case gained wide attention when a national magazine depicted his Odyssey from the battlefield to the United States, is shown as he heard the cheering medical verdict that he will again be able to use his hands and arms. Pvt. Lott, an orphan, manages to smile despite his great suffering as he tells the world: "This is my happiest day!" The markings on his casts are sketches made by doctors of the many fractures in both arms, facilitating quick identification. Attending surgeons say that Pvt. Lott doubtless owes his life to penicillin and the sulfa drugs, as well as to his speedy evacuation. (International)

Ohio Mine Inspection Methods To Be Studied

COLUMBUS, Feb. 15.—J. Harry Moore, state industrial relations director, said today he planned a thorough study of Ohio mine inspection methods.

Moore, who took over the directorship barely two weeks ago, said he would take up the matter of mine inspections during a coming conference with Marcus Kerr, head of the State Division of Mines.

Kerr directs 26 deputy mine inspectors, two gas and oil well inspectors and a superintendent and three assistants in mine rescue work.

Mine inspections are required every three months by state law, Kerr said, but many are visited oftener.

Kerr was instrumental in redistricting mine areas a few years ago to provide what he termed inspection procedure.

Kerr lauded the work of mine rescue teams, whose members are recruited from coal pits and paid $5 monthly by the state. The ten-man teams are subject to call at all times to aid in disaster work such as the Powhatan mine fire last July 5 in which 66 men were killed.

DRIVERS UNHURT AS 2 TRUCKS COLLIDE

A milk truck and a coal truck-trailer collided at 8 a. m. today on the Benton road, just south of North Benton, when the coal truck skidded on an icy hump on the side of the road and crashed into the left side of the other vehicle.

Neither driver was injured. Willie Williams, 46, of Kent, was operating the milk truck and Ernest Trotter, 29, R. D. 1, Salem, was driving the semi. Both trucks were damaged on the left side.

District OPA Urges Poultry Rationing During Holiday Span

CLEVELAND, Feb. 15.—The advisory committee of the District Office of Prime Administration has recommended rationing of poultry in the 19-county Cleveland district from Thanksgiving to Easter, the period when it is most scarce.

OPA officials said the recommendation would be submitted to the national OPA office in Washington unless some solution of the present shortage is evolved by city officials and poultry dealers in the near future.

The 20-member committee, which includes representatives of the AFL, the CIO and the railway brotherhoods, declared the recent rationing of most meats and the freezing of all poultry for army use in the eastern areas, from which most of Cleveland's poultry comes, had aggravated shortages here.

Approximately 70 per cent of the city's poultry dealers have closed their stores, contending they cannot operate under present OPA ceilings.

The Cleveland district includes the counties of Ashland, Ashtabula, Carroll, Columbiana, Cuyahoga, Geauga, Erie, Huron, Lake, Lorain, Mahoning, Medina, Portage, Richland, Stark, Summit, Trumbull, Tuscarawas and Wayne.

WLB Defiers Can Be Put Out of Business By Government Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The government brought out today a new, drastic weapon for use against defiers of war labor board orders.

Its first use cancelled the war contracts of, and denied priority assistance to, E. A. Laboratories, Inc., Brooklyn, N. Y., manufacturers of ship landing lights and other electrical equipment.

Denial of priority assistance in these days of scarce materials is a penalty of extreme seriousness. Conceivably it could put a manufacturer out of business.

On the ground the company had "persistently refused" to comply with WLB orders, Fred M. Vinson, director of economic stabilization last night directed the Army and Navy to cancel "all contracts with this employer as rapidly as possible."

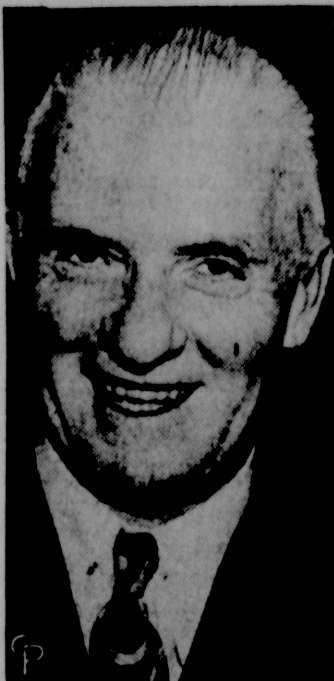

He also directed the War Production board to deny all applications of the firm for priority assistance or for the allocation of materials, and to cancel outstanding priorities and allocations.

Vinson acted under executive order No. 9370 which empowers him to issue "such directives as he may deem necessary" in connection with the enforcement of WLB orders.

This he described as the "other weapon in our arsenal," the other being government seizure.

Before he acted, Vinson said, he consulted the Army and Navy. The Army replied that the firm's production could be absorbed by other manufacturers; the Navy said "cancellation of the company's contracts would not appear to interfere unduly with the war effort."

Why to Moscow?

THERE'S widespread speculation in Washington about the visit of Edward J. Flynn, former Democratic national committee chairman, to Moscow, and whether it has any connection with the reported Russian request for 10 billion dollars post-war rehabilitation loan from the U. S. Flynn accompanied FDR to Yalta, Russia, for the "Big Three" meet "as an old friend," explained the White House. Flynn went on to Moscow with U. S. Ambassador W. Averill Harriman and his party. 20 MINE SWEEPERS FORCE ENTRANCE INTO MANILA BAY

(By Associated Press)

More than 20 American mine sweepers swept an entrance to Manila bay Tuesday under cover of a naval and air bombardment, the Japanese Domei news agency reported today in an unconfirmed dispatch saying "some ten enemy transports" were believed to be following for a sea-borne thrust at Manila.

The Domei dispatch, recorded by the Federal Communications commission, said 11 U. S. warships engaged in an artillery duel with Corregidor's remaining big guns while the minesweepers went to work on the channel between the rock-like fortress and Bataan.

About 9:30 Tuesday morning an enemy fleet, comprising of two battleships, four cruisers and five destroyers, opened up a barrage of fire against Corregidor, coupled with heavy attacks from enemy aircraft. Domei said, "Our shore batteries on Corregidor promptly returned the fire with a furious gun duel ensuing between our Fortresses and the invading surface craft."

Toward evening the same day, 20 enemy minesweepers invaded the narrow strip of water between the island and the city of Manila. One of these enemy vessels was immediately sunk by fire from shore batteries, while the rest of the enemy craft were effectively checked in their attempt to make a way through the channel.

"There are indications that these enemy minesweepers are being followed by some ten enemy transports, apparently carrying invasion forces," Maj. Gen. MacArthur said. One of Japan's leading military commentators, discounted the worth of Manila. Domei quoted him as saying it should not be "defended to the last man."

SPIES CONVICTED, FACING GALLOWS

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—A review of the death sentence imposed on William Curtis Colepaugh and Erich Gimpel will follow as part of established procedure in the spy trial just concluded by a seven-man military commission.

The commission found the two men guilty yesterday and sentenced them to death by hanging.

Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Terry, commanding general of the Second Service command, will review the findings and send them to Washington for inspection by a board of review. The commission's decision will go to President Roosevelt. The commission, holding hearings since Feb. 6, on historic Governors island, deliberated less than three hours.

The men were adjudged guilty on all three counts: They violated the law of war by secretly landing behind our defense lines from a submarine; they acted as spies and they conspired to commit espionage and sabotage.

Tacturn, German-born Gimpel, 35, heard the verdict without any outward emotion and later told the commission through his counsel he thought he had received "a most fair and impartial trial."

Colepaugh, Connecticut-born and 26-years-old, also showed no emotion.

OHIOAN BRAVED NAZI FIRE TO VISIT DAM

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—An Ohioan was one of five U. S. army engineers who visited the Schwammendamm dam in Germany before it was captured to find out if the Nazis had prepared it for demolition to send a torrent of water down the Roer valley.

A BBC correspondent told how Pfc. Harold B. Albo of Amsterdam in Jefferson county and four others crawled through German rifle fire toward the giant dam causeway.

The broadcast said: "After a defense point had been wiped out by sharpshooting Yanks, they crossed a 1,000 foot causeway in three minutes flat, knowing an 88mm. gun was set up on the other side."

"They slid down 40 feet to the steel opening of the spillway and forced their way in, only to find six fearful Germans."

"A quick 30-minute inspection of the tunnel showed it clear of TNT and wiring and, with the six prisoners, they scaled the 40 feet and returned with vital information."

FOUR FARM BUREAU OFFICIALS RESIGN

Differ On Farmer, Organized Labor Opinions; Dispute Cooperatives

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Feb. 15.—Differing opinions whether the farmer's interests are similar to those of organized labor, plus a dispute over consumer cooperatives, left the Ohio Farm bureau without the services of four 20-year veteran executives today.

The quartet, who resigned, are L. A. Taylor, assistant general manager and secretary of the bureau's insurance companies; L. J. Bennett, assistant secretary of the insurance companies and head of the sales department; R. W. Richert, superintendent of insurance agents, and Eugene L. Hensel, special counsel and supervisor of the legal department.

Hensel said he could not conscientiously serve the farm clients while feeling the organization was working against their best interests. He added:

"The farmers' objectives are the antithesis of unions and consumer cooperatives. The farmer eventually would be faced with disadvantages." Murray D. Lincoln, the bureau's general manager acknowledged the resignations, but contended the interests of the farmers and organized labor were the same.

Supported by the bureau's 26 directors, Lincoln said, "the farmer must work with all economic groups to solve the serious marketing problem."

Eric Johnson (president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce) and others have been stressing the need of working together to avert a postwar depression.

Hensel said he had "nothing against unions or consumer cooperatives." "The cooperatives want low prices and the best possible goods," he said. "The farm cooperatives, working without subsidies from the government, are purchasing at market prices and selling at the highest possible price. There is bound to be friction."

Lincoln, describing the postwar bureau plans as still in the "discussion" stage, said an investigation was underway to ready a concrete program for the farmers at the war's end.

Lincoln announced the committee consisted of Robert Peelle of Clinton county, B. S. Van Gorden of Hamilton, James Tootle of Chillicothe, Everett Rittenour of Pike county and John Hodson of Williams county, state director of agriculture.

J. S. Keltner of Columbus, treasurer, has been named acting assistant general manager, Bowman Doss of Columbus has replaced Bennett and George Hough of Westerville will succeed Richert. Hensel's post has not been filled.

Pvt. Lott, an orphan, manages to smile despite his great suffering as he tells the world: "This is my happiest day!" The markings on his casts are sketches made by doctors of the many fractures in both arms, facilitating quick identification. Attending surgeons say that Pvt. Lott doubtless owes his life to penicillin and the sulfa drugs, as well as to his speedy evacuation. (International)

Ohio Mine Inspection Methods To Be Studied

COLUMBUS, Feb. 15.—J. Harry Moore, state industrial relations director, said today he planned a thorough study of Ohio mine inspection methods.

Moore, who took over the directorship barely two weeks ago, said he would take up the matter of mine inspections during a coming conference with Marcus Kerr, head of the State Division of Mines.

Kerr directs two deputy mine inspectors, two gas and oil well inspectors and a superintendent and three assistants in mine rescue work.

Many inspections are required every three months by state law. Kerr said, but many are visited oftener.

Cleveland School To Open Grid Season Against Salem High

6 HOME, THREE CLASHES AWAY

James Ford Rhodes Team Is Scheduled To Take Sebring's Place

Announcement of a nine-game 1945 football schedule for the Salem High school Quakers—including an opening contest with a new team, Cleveland James Ford Rhodes—was made today by Faculty Manager Fred E. Cope.

After lengthy deliberations, coming as a result of dropping Sebring in the opening contest, the Quaker officials have arranged six games here and three away in 1945, as compared to seven games here last year and two away. All games next fall will be night affairs.

The booking of the Cleveland outfit—a new but strong school with a student body twice as large as Salem's—marks the first engagement with a Cleveland school since Salem played Cleveland Collingwood in 1926.

Reputed to be one of the top teams in the Cleveland west side Senate race, the Rhodes squad is expected to offer plenty of tough opposition for Quaker gridgers in the opener. They finished third in the west side Senate race last season.

Rest Is The Same
The rest of the schedule remains the same as in 1944, with games here slated with Ravenna, Leetonia, Struthers, Girard and Lisbon. The locals will travel to East Palestine, Wellsville and East Liverpool.

Negotiations were attempted to move the Lisbon game, the final of the season, up further on the schedule and to book some other squad as a finalist, but arrangements could not be completed. The Blue Devils were booked on a one year contract and officials hope to move the game up after 1945.

The annual Salem-Leetonia game will be played in Salem again this year on Oct. 5, the same spot it has occupied for the past two seasons. East Liverpool will entertain the Quakers there on Nov. 2.

The complete schedule follows:
Sept. 14—Cleveland Rhodes, here.
Sept. 21—Ravenna, here.
Sept. 28—East Palestine, there.
Oct. 5—Leetonia, here.
Oct. 12—Wellsville, there.
Oct. 19—Struthers, here.
Oct. 25—Girard, here.
Nov. 2—East Liverpool, there.
Nov. 9—Lisbon, here.

Quakers Facing Struthers Cage Aggregation In Final Home Game of Season

For their final home appearance of the 1944-45 basketball season the Salem Quakers have drawn a tough one—Struthers High school.

Although not boasting a top record, the Big Red of Coach Wayne Grinen have shown themselves to be always difficult and the type of team which plays its best against tough competition.

In the last four games they have lost, the Big Red have gone down by just one point—to Sebring, Lowellville, Youngstown East and Youngstown Rayen. In all, they have dropped nine games and won eight.

The other five outfits which have defeated them are Niles, Youngstown Ursuline, Youngstown Chaney and Campbell Memorial, twice. They have won over Girard, Scienceville, Lowellville in a return match, Youngstown Wilson, Lisbon, East Palestine, Hubbard and Springfield Township.

In only one case, the Youngstown Rayen defeat, do the locals rate any edge by comparative scores. In all games with the other common foes, the two teams have won by nearly equal margins. Salem, however, defeated Rayen 54-40, while the Youngstowners edged the Big Red by one point.

To do battle here tomorrow evening, the Struthers coach plans to use two lettermen and three newcomers to his squad. Two veterans, Dick Shafer, at center, and Bob McPhee, highest scorer and forward, form the only experienced section of the Big Red crew.

Two Veterans Back

The other three spots will be filled by Kenny Lunn, a forward, and Guards Bill Maki and Frank Thornton.

Shafer is 5' 11", McPhee, 5' 9", Lunn, 5' 8", Maki, 5' 8" and Thornton is the tallest at 6' 1".

This set of figures gives Salem the edge around the backboards and slim margin in two of the other three spots. The Quakers 48 point per game average is also 10 points better than Struthers'.

Known throughout the district as an "up and down" club, it is possible that a really "hot" night for the Big Red here would be fatal to Salem's pre-game edge.

Six Quakers will be playing their last games for Salem in the local gym tomorrow night. Walt Brian, Mutt Schaeffer, Norm Smith, Jim Appedisian, Bill Stoudt and Ray Kelly are all making their last appearances here.

Six Play Last Games

The first five are Seniors this year, while Kelly, a Junior, has enlisted in the Navy and will be gone from High school competition next season.

Miller will probably use the same starting lineup that has gone into the last two games. At forwards will be Mutt Schaeffer and Ray Kelly, with Brian at center. Guards Jim Appedisian and Francis Lanney will probably get the beginning call.

The Quakers will be seeking their 14th win in 17 games.

A reserve game between Salem and Struthers reserve outfits will get under way at 7:30 p. m. and the varsity game about an hour later.

Cleveland School To Open Grid Season Against Salem High

6 HOME, THREE CLASHES AWAY

James Ford Rhodes Team Is Scheduled To Take Sebring's Place

Announcement of a nine-game 1945 football schedule for the Salem High school Quakers—including an opening contest with a new team, Cleveland James Ford Rhodes—was made today by Faculty Manager Fred E. Cope.

After lengthy deliberations, coming as a result of defeating Sebring in the opening contest, the Quaker officials have arranged six games here and three away in 1945, as compared to seven games here last year and two away. All games next fall will be night affairs.

The booking of the Cleveland outfit—a new but strong school with a student body twice as large as Salem's—marks the first engagement with a Cleveland school since Salem played Cleveland Collingwood in 1926.

Reputed to be one of the top teams in the Cleveland west side Senate race, the Rhodes squad is expected to offer plenty of tough opposition for Quaker gridriders in the opener. They finished third in the west side Senate race last season.

Rest Is The Same
The rest of the schedule remains the same as in 1944, with games here slated with Ravenna, Leontonia, Struthers, Girard and Lisbon. The locals will travel to East Palestine, Wellsville and East Liverpool.

Negotiations were attempted to move the Lisbon game, the final of the season, up further on the schedule and to book some other squad as a finalist, but arrangements could not be completed. The Blue Devils were booked on a one year contract and officials hope to move the game up after 1945.

The annual Salem-Leontonia game will be played in Salem again this year on Oct. 5, the same spot it has occupied for the past two seasons. East Liverpool will entertain the Quakers there on Nov. 2.

The complete schedule follows:
Sept. 14—Cleveland Rhodes, here.
Sept. 21—Ravenna, here.
Sept. 28—East Palestine, there.
Oct. 5—Leontonia, here.
Oct. 12—Wellsville, there.
Oct. 19—Struthers, here.
Oct. 26—Girard, here.
Nov. 2—East Liverpool, there.
Nov. 9—Lisbon, here.

Quakers Facing Struthers Cage Aggregation In Final Home Game of Season

For their final home appearance of the 1944-45 basketball season the Salem Quakers have drawn a tough one—Struthers High school.

Although not boasting a top record, the Big Red of Coach Wayne Grinen have shown themselves to be always difficult and the type of team which plays its best against tough competition.

In the last four games they have lost, the Big Red have gone down by just one point—to Sebring, Lowellville, Youngstown East and Youngstown Rayen. In all, they have dropped nine games and won eight.

The other five outfits which have defeated them are Niles, Youngstown Ursuline, Youngstown Chaney

DERBY HOPEFULS FILE ENTRIES IN SPITE OF WMC BAN

Several Owners Determined Derby Will Be Run This Spring

(By Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 15.—With Mid-night tonight the usual deadline for Kentucky Derby nominations, 11 "hopefuls" whose names are in the hat "just in case" went through their paces at Hialeah race course today, unaware of Mr. Byrnes' edict.

The Calumet Farms' Pot O' Luck, Good Blood and Hall Victory head the list of three-year-olds at Hialeah who are getting ready to "run" should the ban be removed in time for the big race.

It's pretty obvious that Trainer Ben Jones thinks most highly of the chances of Pot O' Luck, winner of the Champagne stakes and Pimlico Futurity last year.

Still Hoping

Gertrude Donovan's Fighting Don, an early summer sensation among last year's juveniles, "has done everything asked and more" in trials, says Trainer H. H. Battle. The colt has been breezed twice and once worked a half in '51.

Blen Pal and Bullium are doing "Okay," says Trainer R. E. (Red) Wingfield of the Circle M. Barn.

Lt. Comdr. T. D. Buhl's Air Sailor who has seven firsts and three seconds to show for 11 races last summer, "Can run all day and deserves a Derby chance," in the words of Trainer Lee Wilson.

Jim Hastie, trainer for Millbrook farm, believes Hal, who was second in eight races last season, is in for his "best year" should racing be resumed. Millbrook also has nominated Balwyn, recently purchased for $10,000, for the Kentucky classic.

and Campbell Memorial, twice. They have won over Girard, Scienceville, Lowellville in a return match, Youngstown Wilson, Lisbon, East Palestine, Hubbard and Springfield Township.

In only one case, the Youngstown Rayen defeat, do the locals rate any edge by comparative scores. In all games with the other common foes, the two teams have won by nearly equal margins. Salem, however, defeated Rayen 54-40, while the Youngstowners edged the Big Red by one point.

To do battle here tomorrow evening, the Struthers coach plans to use two lettermen and three newcomers to his squad. Two veterans, Dick Shafer, at center, and Bob McPhee, highest scorer and forward, form the only experienced section of the Big Red crew.

Two Veterans Back

The other three spots will be filled by Kenny Lunn, a forward, and Guards Bill Maki and Frank Thornton.

Shafer is 5' 11", McPhee, 5' 9", Lunn, 5' 8", Maki, 5' 8" and Thornton is the tallest at 6' 1".

This set of figures gives Salem the edge around the backboards and slim margin in two of the other three spots. The Quakers 48 point per game average is also 10 points better than Struthers'.

Known throughout the district as an "up and down" club, it is possible that a really "hot" night for the Big Red here would be fatal to Salem's pre-game edge.

Six Quakers will be playing their last games for Salem in the local gym tomorrow night. Walt Brian, Mutt Schaeffer, Norm Smith, Jim Appedison, Bill Stout and Ray Kelly are all making their last appearances here.

Six Play Last Games

The first five are Seniors this year, while Kelly, a Junior, has enlisted in the Navy and will be gone from High school competition next season.

Miller will probably use the same starting lineup that has gone into the last two frays. At forwards will be Mutt Schaeffer and Ray Kelly, with Brian at center. Guards Jim Appedison and Francis Lannay will probably get the beginning call.

The Quakers will be seeking their 14th win in 17 games. A reserve game between Salem and Struthers reserve outfits will get under way at 7:30 p. m. and the varsity game about an hour later.

SPORT CHATTER

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—When an American army boxing team from Calcutta cleaned up in the All-India boxing tournament at Lahore last week, it brought to light a few items that might be considered by Eddie Egan in his efforts to improve boxing in New York.

The Yanks, led by Maj. Anthony H. Ortend of Baltimore, chairman of the Calcutta army boxing commission, took four individual titles—winners were Pvt. Jesse Dean of Grand Rapids, Mich., Pvt. Jimmy Rouse of Albany, N. Y., Pvt. Joe Frischer of Sacramento, Calif., and Pvt. Johnny Miller of Stockton, Calif.—two runners-up and the team crown. Miller also got a prize for being the "most scientific" boxer. The highspot was that the tournament was fought under British rules: The referee remained outside the ring, fans weren't allowed to make noise except between rounds and tea was served to ringersiders each of the six nights of scrapping.

STILL CUTTING TAPERS

Tony Balash, former National Collegiate 165-pound boxing champion from Syracuse, N. Y., is on the road selling church candles in Pennsylvania, New York and New England. Tony, who punch-hit as Syracuse coach for two years after Roy Simmons joined the navy, is in demand as a college referee, but he declines all offers because his work "won't permit me to burn the candle at both ends."

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Joe Binks, English track expert, claims Jack Donaldson of Australia should be the world 100-yard record holder instead of Jesse Owens. In a race at Johannesburg, South Africa, in 1910 Donaldson was timed in 9½ seconds over a heavy track. That figures out to $375 as compared to Owens' 9.400. Indiana's Hank Johnston, vice president for athletics of the American College Publicity association, blasts football and publicists for fake "bear stories" in the current issue of the ACPA magazine. And Jeff Cravath, U.S.C. and Fritz Crisler, Michigan, to the list of grid coaches who have turned down big offers from one of the new pro leagues.

LEAVES FROM A WAR

CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK

by Hal Boyle

N BELGIUM—First Sgt. Elden Harm of the 104th Timber Wolf Division found a North American V and arrow abandoned in a man position by some Nazi venir collector. With it Harm furnished plenty of "Hassen-ffer" for his mess table and a genuine rabbit fur collar for his G. I. jacket.

I'm going to use the rest of my ows to put tail fins on retreat-Jerries," says the sergeant.

When he is working on a stub- n jeep T/5 Thomas Padgett of stic, N. C., a motor mechanic, ss to be left alone. He got mad en six ME-109s began strafing a motor park where he was tinkering. Although he never had fired a machine gun, he began spraying 50 caliber bullets at the Jerry planes.

Five were driven off—and the sixth surprised everybody by crash- ing in flames. Podgett went back to work on his jeep.

The 8th Infantry Division boys say their battle specialty is making "Kraut hash" but one kitchen artist has concocted a new delicacy. "You take a fruit bar and D ration chocolate and pare them together in thin chips," said Pfc. Howard T. Kess of Dyer, Tenn. "Add some water and boil. While mixture is boiling, keep stirring until thick. Allow to blend and to cool—and you've got a delicious fruit pudding that will melt in your mouth."

Doughboys of the "Golden Arrow" division are still kidding Sgt. "Doglie" Carnto of Dublin, Ga., who had just removed his shoes to dry his wet feet when an ME-109 swept over at low level, strafing the area. Every doughboy ran for foxholes with Carnto hobbling last in his socks. When he reached his fox- hole it was crowded with soldiers and he had to stand kneedeep in mud sweating out the Jerry tracers.

A hometown bond between Staff Sgt. John T. Petlik of Panama, N. Y., and a Polish-born medic captured with several German pris- oners paid dividends. Talking to the medic, Petlik learned that both were born in the same village in Poland. They talked over old times and the Pole called in several more of his buddies to surrender. Then he asked if he could serve with the American army taking care of the wounded.

Reef is adding the cocoanut to a souvenir collection already so ex- tensive his buddies think he ought to open a war museum.

SMOKY HILL ARMY AIR field, Salina, Kan. — Staff Sgt. Thomas L. Johnson traveled a quarter of a million miles by plane—mostly over enemy-held territory, but he got his luckiest break on Dec. 7, 1941. While he was on guard duty at Hickam field, Hawaii, a Japanese bomb ex- ploded three feet from his bunk. At the moment, Johnson was walking his post and looking forward to re- turning to that bunk.

IN BELGIUM—First Sgt. Elden J. Harm of the 104th Timber Wolf division found a North American bow and arrow abandoned in a German position by some Nazi souvenir collector. With it Harm has furnished plenty of "Haseen-pheffer" for his mess table and sports a genuine rabbit fur collar on his G. I. jacket.

"I'm going to use the rest of my arrows to put tail fins on retreat-ing Jerries," says the sergeant.

When he is working on a stub-born jeep T-5 Thomas Padgett of Boetie, N. C., a motor mechanic likes to be left alone. He got mad when six ME-109s began strafing a motor park where he was tinkering. . . . Although he never had fired a machine gun, he began spraying 50 caliber bullets at the Jerry planes.

Five were driven off—and the sixth surprised everybody by crash-ing in flames. Padgett went back to work on his jeep.

The 8th infantry division boys say their battle specialty is making "Kraut hash" but one kitchen artist has concocted a new delicacy. "You take a fruit bar and D ration choco-late and pare them together in thin chips," said Pfc. Howard T. Koss of Dyer, Tenn. "Add some water and boil. While mixture is boiling, keep stirring until thick. Allow to blend and to cool—and you've got a delicious fruit pudding that will melt in your mouth."

Doughboys of the "Golden Arrow" division are still kidding Sgt. "Daggle" Carnto of Dublin, Ga., who had just removed his shoes to dry his wet feet when an ME-109 swept over at low level, strafing the area. Every doughboy ran for foxholes with Carnto hobbling last in his socks. When he reached his fox-hole it was crowded with soldiers and he had to stand knee-deep in mud sweating out the Jerry tracers.

A hometown bond between Staff Sgt. John T. Petlik of Pamaona, N. Y., and a Polish-born medic captured with several German pris-oners paid dividends. Talking to the medic, Petlik learned that both were born in the same village in Poland. They talked over old times and the Pole called in several more of his buddies to surrender. Then he asked if he could serve with the American army taking care of the wounded.

If Pfc. Albert H. Reek had opened a "C" ration can and found a squirming lobster inside, he couldn't have been more surprised than when the mail orderly brought him as a Christmas present—one naked coconut.

"I knew this screwy thing was for you the minute I set eyes on it," said the mail orderly. . . . "Nuts to you, too," replied Reek, inspecting his outsized filbert. . . . It had been mailed to him from Hawaii by an old friend, Fireman First Class Harry Zimmerman, who used to live around the corner from Reek's home in Philadelphia.

Reek is adding the coconut to a souvenir collection already so ex-tensive his buddies think he ought to open a war museum.
